NOVEMBER KITCHEN LORE

On November days, the warmth of the kitchen has a comfortable air about it. So now is the time to plan whole meals that can be baked in the oven. A good starting point is spareribs baked over bread stuffing and luscious baked apples. A crisp cabbage salad and hard rolls are good color, what flavor! If It's to be poultry, select a of the breastbone, tender skin, soft meat, few hairs, and soft, smooth feet. Chickens in the roasting class are generally 5-9 months old, depending on the breed; capons, 7-10 months; turkeys 5-9 months. Guineas are months old and geese when 5-11 months old.

As to the size of bird, when selecting turkey allow for each person to be served 34 to one pound dressed weight; chicken or guinea, about one pound dressed weight; fat duck or goose 11/2 pounds dressed weight. It is economical to buy a larger bird than needed for one meal or even two, because the larger the bird, the greater the yield of meat in proportion to bone.

When ready to roast the bird, sprinkle the inside with salt, and fill the body cavity with stuffing but do not pack. Allow room for the stuffing to expand. It may be convenient to stuff the bird the day before it is to be cooked. For all birds, stuff the loose skin at the base of the neck, again putting the stuffing in lightly. Fold the neck skin toward the back and fasten with skewer, or a few stitches. Fold the wing tips back on the wings, "arms akimbo" fashion. To make the McAfee Funeral Home stuffed bird ready for the pan rub it all over with butter or other fat, sprinkle with salt, and dust lightly with flour. If the bird is very lean lay several strips of salt pork or bacon over it.

For roasting a young bird use a shallow uncovered pan with rack in the bottom. Thus the bird cooks more evenly and more rapidly than in pan with high sides. Start a turkey or guinea rack in the shallow pan, a duck or a goose squarely breast down, and a chicken either sidewise or squarely on its breast. Do not add water to the pan. Do not cover the bird with either a lid or a blanket of dough or cloth. Water and coverings simply serve to steam a bird and steaming is not needed because the meat of young birds is tender to begin In the oven, keep the temperature moderate, or even slow, for the entire cooking period. Suit the temperature to the weight of the bird, using more moderate temperature for the larger birds. Turn the bird from time to time so that all portions may be even done. At the time of turning, baste with melted butter or other fat or pan drippings for all except ducks and geese which are self-basters.

The following time table may be used as a guide, though no hard and fast rules can be given - but use caution, don't overcook -a plump young bird responds well to good cooking. For 4-5 pound chicken, allow 1 1/2-2 hours at 350 degrees; 5-6 pound duck, 2-21/2 hours at 350 degrees; 10-12 pound goose, 3-4 hours at 325 degrees; 2-21/2 pound guinea, about sponsibilities so that all the fami- 10-13 pound turkey, 3½-4½ pound turkey, 21/2-3 hours at 325; ly shares in the tasks to be done, hours at 300 degrees; 14-17 pound turkey, 5-6 hours at 275 degrees; 18-23 pound turkey,
