

Costumes for Indonesian Night were adjusted for the pageantry of native dances.

Members help Tracy Shillito with her costume for Blue Marlin's show.

Students Add to Education, Culture

Adding to educational and cultural opportunities offered by the University are the events sponsored and produced by students. As the first semester got under way, Block and Bridle made preparations for its annual Little International.

Guignol productions began with the Lab Theatre increasing the selection of plays offered. Music groups were not idle as the University Orchestra, Symphonic Band, Choristers, and several others gave performances. Tau Sigma gave its first program of the year just before Christmas. Indonesian Night provided an unusual evening of entertainment and gave the audience an insight into the culture of another people. Individuals held both music programs and art exhibits.

Second semester saw the continuing of student efforts and was highlighted by Blue Marlin's annual water ballet and Troupers' talent shows.

Tau Sigma, modern dance society, began its season with a Christmas program.

