DALTON BUYS PROPERTY AT ALTAVISTA, VA.

The following is from the Journal at Altavista, Va. W. P. Dalton has lived at Potter, this county, several years. The largest real estate deal staged within the corporate limits of Altavista since the town's existence, both from acreage and price paid, was that just closed whereby Mr. A. J. Dalton of Huntington, W. Va., purchased the property known as the bungalow property from Mr. T. V. Elsom. Rumors that the deal was under way have been prevalent for several weeks but nothing definite could be learned until the first of this week.

In addition to the land lying immediately around the bungalow, Mr. Dalton gets half of the young orchard on the next bluff west of the bungalow and the land between the orchard and Besford avenue. In addition to this all that parcel of land between the Virginian and Southern railroads, with all improvements thereon.

It is estimated that the total acreage is between seventy-five and eighty acres. Mr. Dalton, a coal operator, has plans underway for the immediate construction of two bungalows in the grove at a cost of about $35,000 each.

Mr. W. P. Dalton, nephew of the purchaser, who with his wife, arrived Saturday to superintend the improvements, advises that all materials necessary to make the improvements are now enroute to Altavista and most of the workmen are on the ground.

The two bungalows, when completed, will be occupied by Mr. Dalton's mother and his sister.

Mr. W. P. Dalton, when asked as to whether or not Mr. A. J. Dalton expected to spend his time here replied, "not for the present, but he probably would later on." He also intimated that further building would probably be done in the very near future beside the bungalows now about to be constructed.

He also expressed a likelihood of opening up of a branch office of the Dalton-Kelly Coal Company here, but the main office would be kept at its present location in Huntington, W. Va.

Board of Education to be Elected in Every County on November 2

Kentucky has a new school law which requires the election of a Board of Education for each county, consisting of five members, elected from the county at large.

Candidates may get their names on the ballots by filing a petition not less than 15 days before the election, signed by at least 50 voters.

The Board elected will have charge of the schools and will also elect the County Superintendent of schools.

It is a radical change all the way through and the citizens will do well to become informed about it.

Logan, W. Va.—Six state policemen under Captain Brockus and two special officers of the N. & W. railway engaged in a gun fight with a gang of freight train riders near Breeden station, Mingo county, Saturday night, which resulted in the wounding of William Marcum, aged 22, and his arrest together with William P. McCloud and Lewis Merritt. Two other men of the gang escaped. The encounter between the officers and the five men is said to have been the result of numerous hold-ups and robberies of freight crews and others at Wilsandale, Dingsess and Breeden.—Democrat.

ARRESTED AT MORROW SPEAKING

F. T. HATCHER GRABBED BY THE SHERIFF AND A DAMAGE SUIT RESULTS.

The following is a dispatch to the Courier-Journal from Pikeville: Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 6.—F. T. Hatcher, Democratic leader, tonight fled suit here against Sheriff R. S. Sowards for $100,000, after the Sheriff had arrested him for interrupting Governor Morrow's speech here today.

Mr. Morrow in his speech said that he wanted to talk about some of the "lies" that Democratic speakers had told lately.

"John Waugh," he said, "charged that if Republicans are elected negroes will go to school with the white people and they will ride in the same coaches with the white people. That is a lie."

"He didn't say that, Ed." Mr. Hatcher said, calmly, from a position in the crowded aisle near the door of the court house.

Mr. Hatcher was seized by Sheriff Sowards and taken to the jail. He was released soon afterward.

False arrest and imprisonment are charged against the Sheriff in Mr. Hatcher's suit.

Road Overseers Should go to Work at Once

The roads of Lawrence county are now dry and fairly passable, except for the sore places which are mud holes when it rains. Every overseer should get his men out now, while the weather is dry, and fill these places. Otherwise, the first rain will put the roads into just as bad condition as heretofore.

The hill just this side of Blaine town needs some of this kind of work very badly and the County Judge has just given the overseer orders to get to work on it immediately.

About three miles beyond Blaine there is a very bad place, caused chiefly by the water from an oil well now being drilled on the hillside just above the place. The authorities should see that those responsible for this should put in a culvert or drain and repair the damage already done.

MRS. COTNAM TO SPEAK AT LOUISA MONDAY

THE ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN TO BE DISCUSSED BY AN ARKANSAS WOMAN.

Mrs. T. T. Cotnam, of Little Rock, Ark., will address the voters of Lawrence county at the court house in Louisa on next Monday, October 18. She is quite a brilliant woman and her address will merit a large audience.

Since the women are full fledged voters we are going to have the opportunity of hearing them on the issues involved in our governmental affairs. Heretofore it has been a very rare thing to have women taking part in political discussion, but already they have shown themselves equal to the occasion. Talking is said to be woman's strongest characteristic, and if this be true there has been opened to her a very wide field.

Everybody is invited to hear Mrs. Cotnam, the first of her sex to speak in Louisa for democracy. She made a speech at the National Convention which was quite a "hit."

STREET PAVING.

The street paving work is being pushed as rapidly as possible under the handicap of a shortage of labor. More men could be used. This work will have to close for the winter when the weather gets colder, as the asphalt can only be applied when the weather is warm. The contractor expects to complete this fall all the space that has been excavated.

TRYING TO IMPROVE TELEGRAPH SERVICE

The Williamson (W. Va.) News says: Miss Dollie Peters, of Louisa, Ky., chief operator of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co., sent here to bring about more efficient and satisfactory telephone service, has been handicapped so far in not having the necessary help. Two new operators are needed now.

Miss Peters is a young woman of tact and charm and high efficiency and may be counted on to do her best to improve the local service. Improvement in the long-distance service depends primarily on new facilities, new lines, for all of which provision has been made.

OIL DEVELOPMENT IN LAWRENCE CO.

The upper Blaine oil field as a live piece of territory. Wells are drilling everywhere, it seems, when you visit that field.

The latest well extending the field is on Merideth Kelly, near the mouth of Coal creek. It is a good well, estimated at 20 to 30 barrels.

Oliver Wheeler No. 2 is drilling and a good camp and other buildings are being erected on the place. This and the Kelly lease belongs to the Cumberland Petroleum company. They have a considerable acreage surrounding it.

The well on James P. Skaggs, on Coal creek, by Frost & Miller, of Huntington, will be drilled in about Saturday or Monday. They got some oil and gas in the lime the first of the week.

The third well on P. P. Holbrook is being completed today. The last well on Brack Holbrook is a good one.

The well on G. C. Swetnam's place near Wilbur has not yet had a pumping test sufficient to show what it will produce, but it is regarded as a paying well.

The Busseyville Oil company's new well on the O'Neal farm, being drilled by Watkins & Preston, should reach the Berea next week.

The well at Walbridge is showing up very nicely on a pumping test now being made.

The East Fork development is going forward and it is believed the pool opened there is a good one.

Board of Trade Banquet Well Attended

The Board of Trade banquet served Thursday evening of last week by the ladies of the M. E. Church South was quite a success. 81 plates were served.

At the conclusion of the bounteous and delightful dinner Mr. N. M. Orr, secretary of the Board of Trade, opened the talkfest with a few happy chosen remarks.

He introduced Hon. A. O. Carter as toastmaster. Judge Carter took hold of the job like a veteran and handled the fourteen speakers with great skill and more or less mercy.

The speeches covered a wide range of subjects pertinent to the occasion, which was the promotion of the community's interests.

The program was published in the NEWS last week and was followed faithfully, but some of the speakers on the list were called out of town. Those who were not present to respond to their toasts were Mayor Snyder, Dr. H. H. Sparks, R. C. McClure, E. V. Cole and Col. Jay H. Northup. Capt. E. F. Frenze was asked to fill one of the vacancies and did so.

Home and Furniture Destroyed by Fire

The residence of W. T. Rigby on upper Blaine, near Martha, was destroyed by fire last Sunday afternoon. Nobody was at home and nothing was saved. All the family had left was the clothing they were wearing.

It is believed the fire caught from a defective fuse or from soot in the kitchen chimney.

Mr. Rigby is the father of Mrs. A. C. Dial of Louisa.

SOMERSET LIGHT OIL BRINGS SMALL ADVANCE IN PRICE

RECLASSIFICATION OF KENTUCKY OIL ADDS 25c TO 38 GRAVITY AND BETTER.

The following item published in the daily newspapers was followed by announcement of a price of $4.50 for the higher grades of Kentucky oil, known as "Somerset Light." The new classification applies only to oil run into the Cumberland Pike lines after 7 a. m. last Monday.

The price of the higher grade is not as far above the Somerset as was generally hoped for. $4.75 or $5.00 was the price predicted by most of the local people. However, this is a step in the right direction by the purchasing agency and the operators hope for better things later on.

Lexington, Oct. 8.—A very important change in the present purchasing price classification of crude oil in Kentucky of the Somerset variety, which includes by far the greater portion of the oil in the state, was announced today by P. J. Hoenig, of the New Domain Oil & Gas Company, the purchasing agency for nearly all the oil produced in Kentucky. Under the new classification a separate price will be posted for all oil testing 28 gravity or above, and this will be designated as Somerset light oil. Although the pipe line company is unable to keep this oil separated it has consented to indicate on the run tickets the gravity of the oil run. It is believed that this arrangement will prove more satisfactory to many producers who have been insisting that the wide variance of value of Somerset crude oil should have some recognition by the buyers. The new price for Somerset light will, of course, be higher than the price for the general Somerset grade. The present price for Somerset, however, will not be reduced.

STREET INTERSECTION BONDS.

The City Council of Louisa is submitting to the voters a proposition to vote $15,000 bonds for paying the intersection of the streets of Louisa. After the contract was let it was found that this amount will be necessary to finish paying for the intersections in the entire city.

The advertisement is published in another column.

AN EDITORIAL ABOUT PEACE, FOR WOMEN ONLY

(Cincinnati Post)

The editor of The Post has received a number of letters recently from women voters asking this question: "WILL THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS PREVENT WAR?"

Before answering the question the editor cannot refrain from saying that this question reflects great credit on the intelligence of the women voters, BECAUSE it goes straight to the heart of the paramount issue of the presidential campaign.

Governor Cox has said that if he is elected he will put the United States into the League of Nations BECAUSE THE LEAGUE MEANS WORLD PEACE.

Senator Harding has said that if he is elected he will keep the United States out of the League of Nations because it would involve us in every European war.

Now for the editor's judgment—not his opinion but his judgment—based upon the language of the League of Nations covenant.

It is his sincere and earnest conviction that the league covenant is the greatest forward step toward permanent world peace there has ever been taken in the history of the world.

For centuries men and women of every race and nation have dreamed of just such a League of Nations as the only practical way of preventing war.

But it took the reaction from the World War with all its waste of blood and treasure to make the dream come true.

The League was organized and made a part of the treaty of peace in response to the demand of the people of all nations; the fathers and mothers, particularly the mothers, of the boys who had faced the horrors of the great war.

It was not forced upon the people of the world by the statesmen; it was agreed to by the statesmen as the result of the almost, if not quite, unanimous sentiment of the people of the world—the great common people, whose blood and treasure paid for the great war, pays for all wars.

The great, if not the sole purpose, of the men who designed the League of Nations was to bind the nations of the world together in a covenant which would provide for the settlement of future differences by peaceful processes instead of by war.

The covenant provides that no member of the league will go to war without first having done one of two things: submitted the matter in dispute to arbitration, in which case it agrees to abide by the verdict; or submitted it to discussion by the council of the League of Nations. If the war in dispute is submitted to the council—the nation submitting it promises to lay all the documents and facts before the council; it consents that the council shall publish all the documents and facts so that all the world shall know them; that the council shall be allowed six months in which to consider the matter; that even at the end of six months, if the decision of the council is not acceptable, it will still not go to war for three months following the decision.

The league covenant provides that any nation disregarding these solemn promises with regard to arbitration or discussion shall thereby be deemed to have committed an act of war against every other member of the league and that there shall follow an absolute exclusion of the offending nation from communication of any kind with the other nations in the league.

No goods may be shipped in or out; no telegraphic messages may be exchanged; the offending nation is outlawed and boycotted by the civilized world.

Even if it is possible to assume that any nation would invite such economic disaster, there is not a nation in Europe or in any part of the world that could stand such pressure for six months.

Germany would have collapsed like a house of cards within a few months after she launched her assault against civilization, had she been cut off from all communication with the neutral nations that surrounded her.

Under the League of Nations there will be the open enemy of any nation that violates its solemn pledge.

The editor of The Post is fully conscious of his great responsibility when he says to the women who have asked him the question and to every one of the family of women readers that the League of Nations means world peace. And he also believes that it is the solemn duty of every woman who wants to help in the cause of world peace to vote for Cox, who has pledged himself to put America into the League of Nations.

Engine Crew is Overcome by Gas; Trains Runs Wild

Ashland, Ky.—Brakemen, believing something wrong when the train did not slow down for curves, clambered over the tender of a C. & O. freight train which had just passed through Princess tunnel, seven miles west of here, and found the engine crew unconscious, lying on the floor of the cab and the train running uncontrolled. Sparks from the locomotive are believed to have ignited leaking natural gas in the tunnel, which exploded and severely burned the engineer and two firemen, who were taken to a Lexington hospital for treatment.

The injured are: G. W. Sanders, engineer, Lexington, face severely burned; W. M. Debord, fireman, Grain, Ky. face burned, may lose eyesight; Herbert Donaway, fireman, Olive Hill, face and neck burned, eyesight endangered. The flames burned all the hair off the trainmen's heads as far up as their caps. Sanders was the only one able to tell his story. The others could not talk.
