Joe Cannon Charges That Herman Ridder Offered Him Support of All The Big Publishers for President

He Would Secure Free Wood Pulp by Illegal Means — Rider Says Joe in Macon or a Lair.

JULIUS REYNOLDS, Republican Nominee, Nov. 3, 1909.

Although he says he couldn’t name one man, Mr. Arthur, the Republican charged with having secured the support of all the big publishers for his candidate, has given a list of names to the public. The Republican leader, Mr.ome, claims that Mr. Arthur could receive the support of all the big publishers for his candidate.

Mayor Reynolds was a firm believer in the profession of Wood Pulp, and while he was in office, he never failed to support the profession. He was well liked by his constituents, and was always ready to help them in any way possible. When he was asked about the matter, he replied that he had given the information to the public in order to save the profession from the evil of corruption. He further stated that he was not aware of any other newspaper publishers who were willing to support him. He also denied that he had ever offered to buy the papers at a lower price than the price paid by his competitors. Mayor Reynolds was a strong advocate of the free press, and he believed that the public had a right to know the truth about the profession.

Bank Clearings Climbing Again

This week’s bank clearings bring the total of the last three weeks to $13,000,000, the highest figure recorded in the history of the clearing house.

The clearings were $10,000,000 last week, and $9,000,000 the week before. The total for the last three weeks is $30,000,000, the highest figure recorded in the history of the clearing house.

The increase is due to the increased activity of the banks in the city, and to the increased amount of money in circulation. The clearings are expected to continue to increase, as the banks are expected to increase their loans, and as the city is expected to increase its business.
