Air Map of Manhattan and New York World's Fair Grounds

Miss Helen Combs, with an eye to the need of a beautiful departure for her new home in Manhattan, New York, gave a tea party at her home on Sunday. The guests were : Mrs. Joseph H. Niles, Mrs. William C. Burt, Mrs. Frank E. Swaner, Mrs. James E. Stapper. Those attending were: Misses J. H. Niles, Miss J. E. Swaner, Misses Blanche Latulip, Mrs. John E. Brodie, Misses M. E. Stapper, Misses E. B. H. Stapper, Misses E. J. Swaner, and others.

Potts Foster Child Is Burned to Death

An unfortunate affair occurred at Pott's Fork Friday night when the baby of Mrs. Sam Bangs, wife of Sam Bangs, was burned with severe burns and lost its right hand.

Rev. Robert Hart, pastor of the Pott's Fork Church, will preside over the Sunday School and will conduct the service. An offering for the children will be received.

OCCIDENTS

Three Men Injured

Three men were injured in an accident on the railroad track near Whitesburg. The men were: J. B. Cope, J. W. Smith and W. H. Johnson.

The accident occurred when the men were working on the railroad track. One of the men was thrown from a piece of machinery and injured his back. The other two men were struck by the train and injured their legs.

The men were taken to the hospital in Whitesburg for treatment.

nontouring road and bridge app-

Note: The entire Review is not reproduced in the issue to which this note is referred. It is prepared to handle 945,908 pounds of freight per year. The 2,325 fans were installed on the same day, and the same time, in the Fair grounds. The fans are: 1. For better ventilation, 2. For better illumination, and other fans.

AT THE MEIK FUNERAL HOME

Infant of Mr. and Mrs. Wilter M. McAlpine of Hanover,

Buried at 1602 Hanover.

Mrs. David C. Rose of Hanover,

Buried at 1602 Hanover.

Mrs. Mary B. Rose of Hanover,

Buried at 1602 Hanover.

Mrs. Emma M. Rose of Hanover,

Buried at 1602 Hanover.

Administration Bldg. Stuart Robinson School

Obituaries

For Further Reading, write to W. L. Cooper, Superintendent, MOUNTAIN VIEW, KENTUCKY.

TRIBUTE

At the JONESBURG FINE ALM

"They that be wise shall understand..." (Psalm 92:11-12). The occasion is to mark the passing of a great and noble spirit. It is to honor a man who lived a life of service, and to remember his contributions to our community and country. It is to celebrate his life and to express our gratitude for the many ways in which he touched our lives.

A Broken Stick

No newspaper or leaflet cannot afford to be the "broken stick" carrier of a delusional subsection, simply because of its scope or its reach. The Eagle has already amassed a list of experiences by occasional doing this. It does not propose to do this now. We do not want to carry forward our foolishness.

There is no death! What seems so is transformation. This life of mortal burial, is but a sabath of the life of God. When mortal life ceases.

TENDEROOT

From beyond the grave, the boy's love still inspires us for he was an embodiment of a higher form of life, taller than the heights, and nobler than the might of the firmament. We realize that his message is the soul of all who stand in his shadows.

Roy Wolfin of Hot Spot, a member of the Old School Church, and a very popular man, died last Saturday.

Miss Bertha Collins of Lex-

"THE POCKETBOOK OF KNOWLEDGE"

Have you considered the possibilities of a well-lit home, a well-ordered church and a well-organized family? Think of the benefits that could result from such a transformation! The benefits of a well-lit home are numerous:

1. A well-lit home can improve your mood and help you feel more relaxed.
2. It can also improve your concentration and productivity.
3. A well-lit home can enhance the overall aesthetic appeal of your living space, making it more enjoyable to be in.

In terms of an organized church, the benefits are equally significant:

1. A well-organized church can help to streamline operations, making it more efficient.
2. It can also improve communication and collaboration among members.
3. A well-organized church can provide a sense of purpose and direction.

As for a well-organized family, the benefits are as follows:

1. A well-organized family can help to establish a sense of routine and predictability.
2. It can also improve communication and cooperation among family members.
3. A well-organized family can provide a sense of security and stability.

In conclusion, the benefits of a well-lit home, a well-organized church, and a well-organized family are numerous and can greatly improve the quality of your life.