BRIEF ILLNESS

FOR MR. KEITH.

Widely Known Citizen and Monroe Maker Dies At His Home In This City Saturday

DEATH LAMINATED BY ALL.

The entire town was closely gathered Sunday morning in learning of the death of J. W. Keith, who had been ill a short time. Wednesday evening he was pronounced out of danger, and Saturday he was said to be critically ill. On Sunday evening he was taken to the J. C. Novak home, and although he was still unconscious, he was highly favored by all who were present, and his death came at ten o'clock Saturday morning.

Mr. Keith was nearly seventy years old and was one of the pioneers in the city. He moved to Owensboro when he was nineteen years old. He was born in McLean county and was an only child.

In the death of Mr. Keith, Owensboro has also lost one of its oldest citizens, but one of the most active citizens of the city. He was a man with a mind of his own, and not one to yield to the weakness and timidity of others.

Besides Mr. Keith, there are some other citizens who have died recently, but we are not on the spot any question as to their deaths. We shall report on them as soon as we have learned more about them. We are not sure if all the deaths and the names of the deceased are the same.
