High school principal seriously ill

About 35 persons gathered in the halls of Jeffersonville High School yesterday afternoon to observe the wake for Dr. Howard B. Reynolds, principal of the school, who had been stricken with a heart attack Wednesday night.

Dr. Reynolds, 46, who took up the principal's duties on July 1, is currently serving his second year in that position. He also was in charge of the school's athletic department.

Reynolds had undergone three operations for cancer of the bladder during recent months. He was discharged from the hospital May 21, but was hospitalized again on May 28. His condition deteriorated and he was transferred to the hospital on the night of his death.

Reynolds was stricken while on his way to the hospital from the school.

suggestions any agreement will be made. The other possible solution is that a sewer line be extended to Hill Ridge East and the community be served by that line.

In other words, a reduction of about $37,000 in state aid would be translated into an intergovernmental agreement of the type which would result in a savings of about $40,000 to the community.

The state legislature, at its February 1 meeting, authorized the submission of a bill to Congress to establish a federal-state community development program.

Hill Ridge East, Inc., Kellner Development, Inc., and the Golden Football Inc. have been named as the sponsors of the bill.

Robert Barlow of Hill Ridge East, Inc., speaking in opposition to the measure, said the community would have to pay $300,000 to $400,000 for the sewer line.

In any case, the community would have to pay $300,000 to $400,000 for the sewer line.

The city's problem is the need for sewers and water lines, according to the city's development consultant, Mr. A. J. O'Connor.

The city has been working on the problem for several years, he said, and has received a number of proposals from developers.

However, the city has not yet been able to agree on a plan.

The city's plan, Mr. O'Connor said, is to build a sewer line along the riverfront and to provide water service to the riverfront area.
