UNJUST CRITICISM.

Very unfair means are being used by a Louisville political newspaper to defeat Mr. Orville Stivers, regular Democratic nominee for County Superintendent of Schools for Jefferson County, on the charge of incompetency, because he failed to pass the county examination for teachers more than five years ago. The paper daily publishes ridiculous answers to questions Mr. Stivers gave in his examination, and the cartoons printed are very amusing to some people. This is unjust to this young man who has since applied himself and has struggled hard to overcome difficulties. Mr. Stivers passed a very creditable examination in 1907 and secured a state teachers' certificate, which qualifies him to serve as County Superintendent in case of his election in November. His failure in the examination five years ago, and his subsequent efforts to overcome difficulties, show that he is made of the right kind of material. The county is greatly in need of such young men, and Mr. Stivers should be encouraged in his efforts. At present he has two opponents—the Republican nominee, H. H. Sims, who is charged, has failed to pass the required examination, and Mrs. Rosa A. Stonestreet. In regard to Mr. Sims, we have nothing to say, as we do not know his qualifications, but Mrs. Stonestreet is receiving some severe criticism for making the race after being defeated for the nomination in the Democratic convention. Her chance for election is very slim, for an independent candidate seldom wins, and Mrs. Stonestreet has made many enemies in the county by coming out against the regular Democratic party, which has supported her for many years, and for taking a stand against a model school for the country children of the county. In the latter, however, she has made some friends among those opposed to the high-tax and a model school. It can also be said of Mrs. Stonestreet that she has done much for the schools in Jefferson county since she has held the office of School Superintendent, and has so kept her records that anyone desiring to know conditions in Jefferson county could easily do so by calling at her office. This was a great improvement that she made in this office. But she has caused a great deal of bitter opposition on account of "playing politics," as has been charged, and it was plain to be seen at the county convention that the people were against her. It doesn't matter how well qualified she is for the position, if her party turns her down and the people do not want her, it appears that she should step down and out and let some one else have the office.

LONG RUN.

Aug. 16.—Mrs. J. G. Morris spent Monday in Louisville. Miss Bessie Gregg, of Louisville, has returned home after a visit with relatives here. Miss Stella Webb spent last Thursday with Miss Fannie Bell Goodnight. Mr. Herbert Long spent last Friday in Louisville. Misses Clara and Marguerite Neel, of Finckville, were guests of relatives here. Miss Ona Belle Demaree has returned to her home at Todd's Point after spending a week with relatives here. Miss Calien Crosby entertained the Long Run Club last Thursday evening. Quite a number were present. Mrs. G. B. Neel entertained at dinner last Wednesday for the following: Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Justice, Mrs. J. G. Morris, Misses Clara and Marguerite Neel, Beatrice Morris, and Mr. William Crosby. Mrs. A. N. Yeager and children, of Lyndon, spent last Thursday with Mrs. W. H. Childs. Mrs. Marshall Humphrey has returned to her home in Louisville after spending some time with Miss Bernice Grady. Mrs. Moore, of Eminence, was the guest of her daughter, Mrs. James O'Brien. Quite a number from this neighborhood attended the meeting at Kavanaugh Camp grounds Sunday.

INGRATITUDE.

One of the most common sins in the past age is that of ingratitude—ingratitude for the blessings of God that we enjoy and ingratitude that we show to those of the world who try to accomplish something for their fellow citizens. We turn to God when upon beds of affliction and beseech Him to give aid, but when He permits us to enjoy life and bestows abundant gifts upon us, many of us forget Him. It should be a pleasant duty to be grateful to God, who has forever protected and comforted us. Nothing in this life is absolutely ours, but lent us from the hand all-provident. People too often forget this fact, and devote their lives to the world and the devil instead of showing their appreciation by living true to God and to mankind. The same ingratitude is manifested in our dealings with humanity. Let some good man offer to contribute a large sum of money to a church or a school and there will be those who will charge that he is doing this for show. Practical illustrations could be given every day. Our school trustees serve the people without pay or appreciation. The town trustees are not paid a cent for their services, and when they make an effort to collect delinquent taxes or improve the town, instead of receiving the thanks that are rightfully due them, they are criticized. Many of us know our duty to God and humanity, but we forget ourselves. Let's be up and doing, and "render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

THE TOWN PUMP.

The Town Pump has been used so much lately, on account of the extreme warm weather and dry "spell," I was afraid that I would be detected, so I went away on my vacation. Money ran out and I had to come home, and here I am again, at my old station and with the Jeffersonian's permission will give occurrences around the pump as I see them.

I see somebody has nominated my dear old "Uncle Rube" as a contestant in your Mammoth Cave and Ring Contest. I'm fer him! If he can run like he can write, he show will win.

The most amusing thing I have heard the last few days happened Saturday evening about 5 o'clock. A lovely young lady's father came over to the Pump to get a drink of water. This was the chance of a lifetime for the girl's sweetheart to ask for her. He did, and met with the inquiry, "So you want to marry my daughter? Got any money?" He was a fly young man and answered, "Yes, I have a little; how much do you hold her at."

Jeffersonton has the stingiest man in Kentucky, if not in the world, and I offer a premium of $25 for his superior in closefistedness. He got married to a home girl to save expenses. They walked around the square for a bridal tour. He bought her a nickel's worth of stick candy for a wedding present, and then suggested that they save the candy for the children.

You know Jap Clem, Abe Anderson, et al., took a trip recently to Niagara Falls and several interesting places in Canada. The boys tell some interesting stories of their trip. Clem said when he asked the Cumberland Company if he might go they simply "took his head off." But Jap had his own way, as the head officials know they can't get along with out him here. The sun was so warm it simply suffocated him, he said. When the boys got to the great Falls, of course, they had to take a trip around all the cliffs and go under the waterfall. When they got about half-way up a cliff, Clem said "I slipped, fell over a cliff and broke my neck!" indeed yes. And when big Abe lifted me up and pulled me back on the trail I absolutely died from the pain. But before long I was able to go on under the falls, but by the time we were almost there I collapsed and sat down for I could never breathe again. But they made me pull myself together, and in time we got under the water, and there it was so cold I froze to death. Oo-oh. And I was so glad, I tell you, when we came out at last, and as soon as they got me to the hotel, I went to bed, dead from exhaustion.

TOTALROOSTER.

Will some one tell me what has become of the Totalrooster? Oh! how we miss him. I see some one has entered my name in the great Jeffersonian contest. Now, I am afraid to make a canvass for fear the "Marshall" will get me or some one will "lynch" me. "O. G. Whizz!" some one help me.

UNCLE RUBE.

We don't know how true this is, but the "Around the Town" man of the Louisville Times said it, and we give it to you: County Patrolman Chas. Schneidtmiller, of Harrod's Creek, thought he had it on his brother officers when he got an automobile, he being the only one of the seventeen in the county service who is supplied with "one of 'em there benzine buggies." But now the other "sixteen-to-one" officers have the laugh on Schneidtmiller. He went on a call to Middle-town the other night and made a record run just to show that the machines are the proper thing and are all they are "cracked up" to be. He went so fast that the engine got "over hot" and when he stopped the thing refused to start up again. Schneidtmiller received his sleuth training in tracking behind a team of mules on a farm. He has had considerable experience with machinery in the shape of farming implements and therefore when the automobile at first failed to operate he was not much worried. He felt confident that he would be able to remedy the trouble in "a-little-or-no-time."

ALL SHOES LOOK ALIKE STAR BRAND SHOE TALK

On the outside, but did you ever stop to think that the important parts of a shoe, such as counters and inside soles, are covered up? A shoe may look ever so good on the outside but if the soles and counters are not solid leather it is impossible for the shoe to give satisfaction. A shoe has to be made right inside or it will not be comfortable or servicable. "STAR BRAND" Shoes are made right both inside and outside. They are made by expert shoe makers who know how to make good wearing, stylish, comfort-giving shoes. In the eleven big specialty factories where "STAR BRAND" Shoes are made there is nothing but the best leather money can buy to make shoes. IF PEOPLE ONLY KNEW how superior "STAR BRAND" Shoes are to other makes of shoes our business would double in thirty days.

TRUCK PATCH.

Well, Hannah has settled down once more. The blackberry season is over, but she was out so long she kinder reminded me of a blackberry when she came in. She was so sunburned she was black; she looked rather seedy, and she was awful sweet.

The "buds" around here had a picnic in Bridwell's woods Thursday. There were about twenty-five "buds" and not a single "buddy," but they said they had a good time anyhow.

'Tis strange the notions women take! Now one lady out here decided she wanted to be little all her life, so she married a Mr. Little. One of our girls desires to attain a great height (Will Hite) and so the story goes.

Will some one tell me what has become of the Totalrooster? Oh! how we miss him.

I see some one has entered my name in the great Jeffersonian contest. Now, I am afraid to make a canvass for fear the "Marshall" will get me or some one will "lynch" me. "O. G. Whizz!" some one help me.

The other day Hannah said: "Rube, just come out and see my pretty hens." There were almost fifty beauties. That very night I went to fasten the hen house door and, would you believe it, there was nothing there but roosters. Hannah nearly fainted when I told her, but of course I explained the hens had only gone to roost and of course were roosters.

UNCLE RUBE.

One Of 'Em Benzine Buggies.

We don't know how true this is, but the "Around the Town" man of the Louisville Times said it, and we give it to you:

County Patrolman Chas. Schneidtmiller, of Harrod's Creek, thought he had it on his brother officers when he got an automobile, he being the only one of the seventeen in the county service who is supplied with "one of 'em there benzine buggies." But now the other "sixteen-to-one" officers have the laugh on Schneidtmiller. He went on a call to Middle-town the other night and made a record run just to show that the machines are the proper thing and are all they are "cracked up" to be.

He went so fast that the engine got "over hot" and when he stopped the thing refused to start up again. Schneidtmiller received his sleuth training in tracking behind a team of mules on a farm. He has had considerable experience with machinery in the shape of farming implements and therefore when the automobile at first failed to operate he was not much worried. He felt confident that he would be able to remedy the trouble in "a-little-or-no-time."

So the officer tried his mechanical knowledge when the engine failed to start properly. He got under it and started working, screwed bolts, tightened nuts, adjusted and readjusted the sparker, sweated, pulled and tugged at the crank until his arm was sore, puffed and sweated some more, and finally sent home for his horse and buggy. That is the reason the other sixteen county patrolmen are laughing.

OLD FOLK'S DAY.

Celebrated at Valley Station, Where Many Helpful Thoughts Were Given—Worshipped God As In Days of Old.

Valley Station, Aug. 16.—The services were conducted by Rev. Chas. Young Boggess, the oldest person in the house. The hymns were lined and sung in the old-fashioned way, before organs were used in the churches. Rev. Boggess read I Cor. 13, and told some very interesting and helpful experiences of his life. Rev. J. W. Conkling, of the Christian church, made a short, though helpful and appropriate, talk on "Our Allegiance to God."

At 2 p. m. services were opened by Rev. E. D. Boggess for the young people, the organ being used at this time. Bro. Boggess' subject was, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth."

May all that heard these good folks be benefited and be the means of helping others. All had an enjoyable day, the one sad thought being since our last meeting several had passed away from our midst.

SEATONVILLE BOY'S.

There is Mr. Guy Mills—He just can't be beat; Whoever gets his company, May think it quite a treat. Next comes "Pretty" Harvey—That is his latest name; The girls all think he is a wful cute, And I just think the same. Mr. Pound and Mr. Morsey, Who I must not forget, For they are our young business men; And we are proud of them "you bet!" There is Joe, just a little bashful, Though he is kind and true; Although you are seldom with us, There's some one waiting for you.

Mr. Tensell and Mr. Frederick They say are the dandiest boys yet, And I am sorry to say That these young men have never met. Mr. Swan and Roland Tyler, Who don't live so near Seatonville town; But when we give out parties They are always invited around.

Last, but not least, He is a good and jolly boy, Now girls, can't you guess who? Why, it is our dandy friend, Roy. Now, boys, don't be astonished, When you find out the writer's name; I must close now: I remain as ever, the same.
