A GOLD MINE IN A COW

One of the remarkable cows on record is the "Forty-niner," one of the finest examples of the breed found in the United States. This cow is owned by Mr. John T. Cochrane, of the Town of Oconomowoc, Wis., and is described as a heavy, well-proportioned animal, with a large head and a powerful body. She is said to be one of the most productive dairy cows in the world, yielding an average of over 100 gallons of milk per month.
