

Lincoln County Teachers' Institute.

The closing session opened Friday with singing by many members and prayer by Prof. Lumley.

Institute welcomed P. W. Grinstead, of Lexington, American Book Co.'s representative in this department of Kentucky.

Art of teaching introduced by Miss Lou Moore, followed by Curtis and the conductor.

The State reading circle matter was introduced by the conductor and warmly advocated by him.

The following resolutions were handed to the secretaries by the committee on same.

WHEREAS, The session of this Institute for 1894 has drawn to a close, be it

Resolved, That we contemplate with pleasure the benefits which we have derived from the same and heartily recommend the calling of same each year.

2. We approve the earnest, manly and efficient administration of Hon. Ed Porter Thompson, by which the school system of Kentucky has been so materially improved.

3. Our thanks are due to Supt. W. F. McClary for his universal courtesy and able instruction to the teachers, whether at school, in the Institute or any place wherein he has jurisdiction.

4. We will ever recur with pride and satisfaction to the able instruction given us during the week by Prof. W. E. Lumley. We further recommend him to the teachers in any locality, as altogether competent and willing to give the required instruction in his noble work.

5. We appreciate the deep interest manifested by Drs. Carpenter and O'Bannon, Frois, Grinstead and Hubbard, as well as visitors who have honored us with their presence during the week.

6. We respectfully tender our thanks to our worthy secretaries, Miss Georgia Lewis and M. J. Brough, for the faithful discharge of their duties.

7. That W. P. Walton, the energetic, accomplished and accommodating editor of the INTERIOR JOURNAL, deserves the highest esteem and gratitude of this entire body for his kind and constant attention in publishing our work through the columns of his able and popular paper, and that he is worthy the patronage not only of the teachers, but of the public generally.

8. That a copy of these resolutions be published in the INTERIOR JOURNAL of Stanford.

(Signed) M. D. Hughes, Miss Jennie West, J. H. White, committee on resolutions.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted and the Institute adjourned.

M. J. BROUGH, Sec'y.
GEORGIA LEWIS, Assistant.

BOSTON.

Interesting Letter From Dorothy Dorchester.

In 1630 Tremontane was founded. Tremont one of the principal streets is a contraction of the first name of the town, which shortly afterwards was called St. Botolph of which you can readily see comes Boston. St. Botolph for whom the village was named, being a well-known and much beloved Saxon monk of the seventh century. The city limits have extended to 23,961 acres or more than 30 times the original area. East Boston, South Boston, Roxbury, Dorchester, Charlestown, West Roxbury, Breeds Island and Deer Island have all been annexed to the city, but beautiful Brookline refuses to become a part of Boston, and is an incorporated town in spite of the fact that Boston has built all around it. The population of Boston in 1893 was something near 1,000,000,000 souls and a valuation of $1,500,000,000. Chestnut Hill reservoir is in the Brighton district, a lake holding 8,000,000,000 gallons, and covering 125 acres. A grand boulevard encircles it which is a continuation of Brookline Avenue, Commonwealth Avenue and Beacon street. The drives in and around the city are lovely; long shady lanes, where trees interlace their emerald boughs overhead, huge rocks over run with honey suckle on either side, wonderfully natural, but really the work of a landscape gardener. Everything is dreadfully "English you know" here.

English traps and harness, short banded English cobs for horses, in comparison with which your clean limbed Kentucky thoroughbreds would look about as our dainty Dresden China American girls, when compared with the ruddy, sturdy, large-framed English women. It may be all right. Queen Sab! But for my part I prefer original ideas and wish from the bottom of my heart, we Americans would not ape "our English cousins." Is not Bunker Hill monument a silent and ever present reminder that even a 100 years ago we were better people than they, we Americans are progressive are we not as good if not better now? Why imitate them?

Boston has long been noted for the interest taken in literature, science, art and music. The free public library containing 1,000,000 bound volumes, one of the largest libraries in the world and free to all. There are 250 periodicals and newspapers published here, nine of which are issued daily. The first regular newspaper was printed in Boston in 1704. There are about 300 churches, the most noted of which are the Roman Catholic Cathedral and Trinity church costing, $750,000, the finest church in New England. For many years Bishop Phillips Brooks was rector of this church, a man whose life was pure, noble and full of good deeds. All Boston of whatever creed or color loves and reveres the memory of this man among men. Orphanages, hospitals, schools of music, art and literature abound in this "home of cultcher and baked beans." The shops of all kinds are large and handsome. Of theatres, the Boston Museum is the oldest theatre in the United States, the Globe, Park, Hollis street, Bowdoin Square, Tremont, Boston theatre and Keith's and numerous lesser lights. The Boston Music Hall, where the famous symphony concerts take place during the winter, is a large gable looking barn of a place, which impresses one as being just the place for heavy classical music. "Sweet Marie" or "Linger Longer, Lucy," would sound about as outre in the gloomy recesses of the Music Hall, as a ballet girl in abbreviated skirts would look in the dim religious light of a convent chapel.

Keith's theatre just completed a short time ago, at a cost of one half million, is too beautiful for me to attempt a description. Architects, fresco artists, upholsterers have vied with each other; money spent with a lavish hand and the result is the most beautiful theatre in the world. Draperies of rose pink and Nile green, thousands of electric lights in tinted shades. An electrician in the ceiling could be likened to nothing else than a huge garland of brilliant blossoms. Ushers and attendants all in the immaculate livery. The ladies parlor is a dream in Louis the XIV furniture, upholstered in pale blue brocade. Draperies of the most exquisite texture and coloring. Daintiest and most expensive of lamps, vases and bric-a-brac fill every available space. The performance is vaudeville in character and continuous from 10:30 A. M. to 10:30 P. M. One of the strong attractions this week, (the program is changed each week,) is a song and dance by five beautiful young women entitled "Linger Longer, Lucy," "The latest London craze." Imitating again. But the girls are pretty, song catchy and dance graceful. Even if it does smack of the music halls across the water.

The women of Boston are homely, spectacled, straight-laced, looking much older and plainer than the men. They sneer at the so-called mannerism of Western and Southern people. But if I were a man, I think the girls who amputate their hair in silvery voices, gowned in white muslin, soft laces and fluttering ribbons, who think men were made to serve her dainty ladyship, that "the perfection of woman's life is centered in the one word, wife," far, far more charming and lovable than the strident-toned, independent, good-a-man-as-your-tailor-made New England women. O ye sons of old Kentucky, am I not right? DOROTHY DORCHESTER.

MATRIMONIAL MATTERS.

—Miss Allene Welch, of Nicholasville, who has frequently visited here, will marry P. G. Myers, of Texas, on the 12th.

—Disappointed in love, 17-year-old Mary Wrenne, of Bynum, Ala., threw herself under a passing train and was killed.

—Walter Allerson, a young man who resided at Woodville, near Paducah, committed suicide by drowning in a cistern. He had been disappointed in love.

—A couple of children, aged 16 and 15, John Snawden and Lizzie Childress were married at New Albany, Ind. A law to prevent such perversions of nature ought to be adopted in Hoosierdom. Both of the young people are from Jefferson county, this State.

—Leonard Condon forged the name of Frank Shelton, a farmer of Mercer, to a letter to the county clerk, giving him permission to marry his 17-year-old daughter, and got the license. Now the sheriff is hunting for Condon with a warrant sworn out by the old man, charging him with the crime of forgery.

—At last the long talked of marriage of Miss Mattie Thompson, whose beauty is known of many nations, is to be consummated. The day is fixed for Oct. 31. Mr. William Davis, brother-in-law of the owner of the New York World, is the fortunate man. The ceremony will be at the Washington residence of Secretary Carlisle. Miss Thompson leaves this week for Europe to select her trousseau.

BOOKMAKING.

Types for the Greek alphabet were first cast by Aldus in 1476.

The first Bible printed with a date was finished by Faust in 1462.

Typesetting machines were suggested for book work as early as 1842.

Vellum first came into use as a material for bookbinding about 1510.

The library of Gottingen has a Bible written on palm leaves. There are 5,373 pages, each made of a single leaf.

Earthenware bricks or tiles with characters engraved or stamped on them were undoubtedly the first books.

The first known example of bookbinding in boards in the modern style was a Latin psalter in the ninth century.

Some of the early printed books, in order to imitate manuscripts, had the initials and borders painted by hand.

Roman books were often composed of a number of pages of wood strung together with a cord passed through a hole in the corner of each block.

Parchment was in occasional use from the earliest times, came into general use about 200 B. C., and continued until the invention of printing.

All the English kings, from Henry I to Edward VI, took the coronation oath on a manuscript copy of the four evangelists bound in oak boards an inch thick. This book was made in 1100.

Book sewing machines, to do the work of fastening together the sheets of which a book is composed, were introduced in 1872. Before that time all books were sewed by hand. The book sewing machine reduced the cost about one-half. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE FASHION PLATE.

Double skirts are seen on some of the new costumes.

New parasols are made of insertion and silk, with very full ruffles.

Elbow sleeves are growing more popular, and we are threatened with a visitation of the short sleeve mania.

Striped flannel is used for bathing suits, and plain flannel in white, blue or red is trimmed with very wide white braid.

A striking costume is made of putty colored cloth. The skirt is cut in little buttonhole slits, and cardinal or ruby velvet is threaded in and out.

Large buttons are worn if one fancies them. Indeed one may wear almost anything that suits one's particular figure or face, provided it is natty, stylish and becoming.

Pointed waists are growing in favor, and many of them have soft folds of the material or of some contrasting fabric around the lower edge of the bodice, with a bow, buckle or rosette to finish the point in front.

The figaro jacket of embroidery or lace is worn with dresses of all sorts. A modification of this style, which really amounts to a trimming, shows the jacket fronts with sections of the material merely meeting over the shoulders.

Bathing costumes occupy the attention of many of the fashionables. A novelty is made of bright red serge, with sleeves and waist trimmed with white. A white sash with embroidered and fringed ends is knotted about the waist. —New York Ledger.

—Desperate George Kennedy disemboweled App Boswell with a razor, at Midway.

HUSTONVILLE.

—Mr. Harry Baughman is visiting relatives here.

—Every one here is looking forward to the Liberty Fair with untold pleasure.

—Several couples stormed the Misses Morse Wednesday night and Miss Brewer Saturday night. Each time was pleasantly spent.

—Died while on a visit to his brother, Mr. Joe Pruitt, of Louisville. For two years he had been a victim of that dread disease consumption. His remains were taken to Lebanon for interment.

—Mr. Murphy, of Danville, spent Sunday with friends here. Mrs. Emma Phillips and children, of Knoxville, are at Mrs. Dinwiddie's. Prof. M. G. Thomson is at Crab Orchard. Miss Lizzie Twidwell is visiting in Perryville.

—Messdames Mary Green and Reid have returned from Crab Orchard, much improved in health. Mr. Burdett Powell has been quite sick. Messdames McCormack and Robertson, of Springfield, are at Mrs. Margaret McCormack's.

—Miss Mary Lusk entertained Thursday evening in honor of her visitors. Miss Mary Thomson, the following night, invited those charming young ladies together with some others to the college and were royally treated at both places.

—Mrs. Mary Jane Huffman is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Culbertson, at Covington. She was accompanied by Miss Mellie Hopper, who went to see her father, who is much better. Mr. C. B. Reid is at home for a few days' stay. He left his string of horses in charge of Rex Reid. The latter's experience while East has made him an expert in this line.

—Miss Rertie Enoch is with Miss Stagg. Mrs. George Goode has returned home from a visit to her relatives at Covington. George looks 10 years younger since her return. Mr. J. R. Adams and daughter, Leila, are at L. B. Adams'. Miss Leila visited here last winter and made a host of friends. Mrs. Weatherford and Mrs. Carpenter, Mr. James Powell, Misses Fannie and Rosa Harper are at Russell. Mrs. Shipman is visiting relatives in Danville. Mr. J. B. Adams has returned to Newport. J. B. and Samuel Tilden Cook spent Sunday at home.

"I know an old soldier who had chronic diarrhoea of long standing to have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Edward Shumple, a prominent druggist of Minneapolis, Minn. "I have sold this remedy in this city for seven years and consider it superior to any other medicine now on the market for bowel complaints." 25 and 50c bottles of this remedy for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, Druggist, Stanford, Ky.

Kenneth Fozmore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to Geo. W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewiston, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Dr. S. G. Hocker, Druggist, Stanford, Ky.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is enclosed. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. Roach, J. P., Primory, Campbell county, Tenn. For sale by Dr. S. G. Farewell to Stanford.

A Clean Sweep This Time!
$10,000's worth of Dry Goods, Shoes, Clothing, Hats, &c., to go into the hands of the people at once.

Having decided to quit business, we will commence at once a grand

Closing and Clearance Sale,

Of our stock in all departments and surrender the field to other hands which we do with a feeling of sincere gratitude to the warm hearted friends who have so generously sustained us, and in a spirit of generosity that we have never had cause to entertain toward any other community. We propose to wind up our business with one crowning act of liberality that shall not be equaled in years to come.

No better assortment of goods can be found in Stanford, and all must and will be sacrificed at once, together with the entire fixtures contained in our large Double Store Rooms, as we must vacate the buildings in a few weeks. It is folly to talk about cost to get rid of goods. We have got to lose money and have got the nerve to do it.

People shall either load up at once or forever wish they had. Fine line of Dress Goods, including Henriettas, Broad Cloths, Plaid and striped Suitings, Velvet Plushes, &c., as well as lower grades of Dress Goods. All kinds of Notions, Clothing, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes and Trunks will be sold at One-Half Regular Prices.

Thousands of yards of Prints to close at 4c per yard; best blk. Cotton 1 yd. wide 6 1/2c; best bro. Cot. 5c; in fact not one item in the house spared—all must go and quickly at that.

List of Fixtures to be Sold, regardless of Value:—Five Show Cases, 1 Cashier's Desk, three Clothing Tables, 100 feet of Iron, display rods, 8 large Rochester Lamps; One good heating stove and other things too numerous to mention.

A splendid chance for parties wishing to rent rooms and continue business at our stand, which we consider by far the best in the city.

This Sale will continue from day to day until the entire stock is disposed of. We would most earnestly insist that you come early and avoid the crowd that is bound to follow.
