United States Hotel, October 2, 1860.

To Mr. HOUK WILKINS:

THE CARPET LINING you put down for us by you is the only thing of the kind that we have ever seen that we would care to have put under our carpets. So much are we pleased with it, that we would be very unwilling to have another carpet laid or now put down without it. The difference between a room where it is used and where it is not, is no surface as to prevent the attention of the most unobservant. It is worth more than it cost in the increase of softness and pleasantness it gives the carpet, and we think you do not overrate its economy in stating that it adds one half to the carpet's wear.

If our recommendation of it will aid anything to your sales we cheerfully give it. Bentley wants your customers a much greater distance than we do you.

Mr. Breckinridge at Frankfort.

We learn, by telegraph from Frankfort, that, in accordance with an invitation from the Legislature, Mr. BRECKINRIDGE will address the members of that body and his fellow-citizens, in the Hall of the House of Representatives, on to-morrow.

We have not learned the hour at which he will speak, but presume it will be 2 P. M.

BLIND TOM.—It is with pleasure we announce that this interesting little musical prodigy has been prevailed upon to remain two evenings longer! The religious observances and inclement weather of the past week prevented thousands of our citizens from seeing and hearing him, and at their urgent request the managers have consented to remain. No exhibition has ever so completely taken our citizens as it were by storm. Go where you will, into the counting room, the parlor, or the street, and even in the nursery, Blind Tom is sure to be spoken of, and we do not wonder at it, for a more incomprehensible little wonder-exciting genius has never lived, nor one who so completely came up to the high expectations of his auditors. As he positively remains but Monday and Tuesday, let those of our readers who wish to spend a pleasant evening embrace this last opportunity of hearing him. For the accommodation of families he gives an afternoon instince on to-morrow (Tuesday) at 3 o'clock.

CANE PRESENTATION.—The employees of the Louisville Postoffice, on Saturday, presented Frank Ronald, the late postmaster, with a beautiful cane. It is an appropriate testimonial to a worthy gentleman. He has discharged the duties of his position most creditably, and leaves it without a stain upon his reputation. We will only hope that Dr. Speed, his successor, will make as good an officer.

Dr. Speed assumes the position of postmaster to-day.

GEO. CHRISTY'S MINSTRELS.—Geo. Christy's Minstrels open to-night at Mozart Hall, which has been chosen for their exhibition, because it allows superior facilities for the presentation of operatic pieces. The hand is the best that has ever visited Louisville, and George Christy, especially, is without a rival in his profession. To see the perfect embodiment of a nigger minstrel, look upon Christy; and to enjoy yourself for an hour or so, see him and his minstrels.

☞ Somebody has said that Portland has seceded, and therefore Milt. Moore is "overboard" as a candidate for Council. Portland will probably vote unanimous for Milt., and so will the balance of the Eighth Ward. Milt is rather mixed up in political affairs, but he makes a good Councilman, and is sure to be re-elected.

FIRE IN JEFFERSONVILLE.—About eight o'clock Sunday morning the planing mill of Stratton & Co., in Jeffersonville, was fired by an incendiary, we are told, and consumed, together with its fixtures and contents. The loss is about $5,000. There was but very little material in the building. The saw mill adjoining was saved with but slight damage.

BEST PITTSBURG COAL.—Bowser & Fults, Market street, between Sixth and Seventh, have just received a large supply of the very best Pittsburg coal, which they offer for sale at the lowest market price. Those who wish their supply for the season, should lay it in now while the price is low. apl6

FATAL AFFRAY.—We learn from an attentive correspondent that H. Walker shot and fatally wounded Thos. Sparks in Owen county, Ky., on Friday. He also wounded a man named Stoplett and shot at several others, but without hitting them. Walker made his escape.

MILITARY PRESENTATION.—Maj. Thomas H. Hunt, the gallant and efficient Major of the Louisville Battalion, has presented to the Hunt Guards a splendid miniature silver barrel. It will be shot for on Thursday by the members of the company. They meet to-night at Odd Fellow's Hall for drill.

☞ Geo. Briggs, who is one of the cleverest caterers for public favor that Louisville has known, advertises his "Home" in another column. It is a cozy place and opposite the Courier office. We do not recommend drinking, but if you do drink, the House is a capital place.

☞ Two convicts, a man and a woman, for the Jeffersonville penitentiary, came down the Louisville, New Albany, and Chicago Railroad, Saturday night. They were convicted at the criminal term of the Martin county (Indiana) Court, of larceny, and sentenced to two years imprisonment.

HORSE THIEVES.—C. S. Colving, Jesse White, and Jos. Lutz, three horse thieves, were arrested near Cherry Grove, Monmouth county, Ky., on Wednesday last, and eight stolen horses, belonging to Dr. E. Bodmon, of Belmont, Ill., recovered.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—We learn that by the running off the track of a train on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad, early Saturday morning, the engineer was seriously injured and the fireman nearly as badly. The engine was considerably damaged.

☞ Messrs. Pitkin, Wiard & Co., at their agricultural and seed store, Main street, near Third, have for sale Wilson's Albany Seedling strawberry plants. This plant is esteemed by many as the best and most prolific now cultivated.

K. G. C.—There will be a meeting of the K. G. C., of the Fifth Ward, at their Hall, over Watts & Rogers, corner Green and Fourth streets, on this (Monday) evening at 7½ o'clock. Members are requested to attend. By order of the CAPTAIN.

☞ Mr. Spencer continues his sale of Messrs. Guthrie & Bros.' stock of dry goods to-day, at which the finest silks and fancy goods will be offered. The ladies are requested to attend.

☞ To-day is April Fools' day, and the Pilgrims will progress through the streets in costume. If all the fellows who have promised, participate, it will create an abundance of fun.

LETTER FROM FRANKFORT.

Rousseau's Resolutions on the Navigation of the Mississippi—Sinking Fund Bank Bill—Hodge's Preamble to Majority Report on Federal Relations, &c., &c.

[Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.]

FRANKFORT, March 30.

Editors Louisville Courier: Senator Rousseau's resolutions in regard to the navigation of the Mississippi, were taken up yesterday afternoon. Dr. Johnson having an account to settle with Capt. Rousseau, because of his remarks on the Military bill, and having promised to meet him "at Philippi," made a speech of considerable length, in which he did not confine himself severely to the matter under consideration, but proceeded to follow the course of Senator Rousseau's speech on the Military bill.

This morning, Dr. Johnson still holding the floor, Capt. Rousseau, by consent, withdrew the resolutions previously offered by him, and presented the following as a substitute, which were ordered to be printed, thus further postponing definite action. Upon perusal it will be seen that the language of the resolutions proposed as a substitute is much more courteous, dignified, and well considered than that of the original.

WHEREAS, This General Assembly has learned that, by the action of a Congress of certain States held in Montgomery, Alabama, in February last, the free navigation of the Mississippi river is obstructed, and the right of those States is asserted to search the vessels and tax the commerce on that river; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the right of the people of Kentucky to the free, unobstructed navigation of that river and its tributaries is absolute and indisputable; and being of vital importance to them, Kentucky can never consent, under any circumstances, that it shall be illegally interfered with, or conceded to any power or person whatsoever.

Resolved, That the General Assembly has heard of the action of the Congress with profound regret, and the most serious injustice, and feels it its duty to the good people of Kentucky and to those States, at once to say in all kindness, that without a total disregard of the interests, the honor, and the dignity of Kentucky, she can never, under any circumstances, concede the right to search her vessels, or illegally tax her commerce on said river or its tributaries to any person power or State, and that she earnestly trusts that the action of said Congress may be reversed and revoked, that Kentucky may not be called upon to surrender a right so essential to the interests of people, as is the right to the free and unobstructed navigation of said river and its tributaries.

Resolved, That the attention of our sister States in the valley of the Mississippi, together with Virginia and Pennsylvania, be called to the subject of these resolutions, and to that end the Governor is requested to forward copies of the same to the Executives of those States.

Dr. Johnson's Sinking Fund Bank bill was taken up, and after a thorough ventilation, rejected by the following vote:

Yeas—Anthony, Cosby, Gibson, Gillis, Glenn, Grover, Johnson, Read, Rust, Wait, and Wallin—11.

Nays—Mr. Speaker, Alexander, Andrews, Bruner, Chambers, Cissell, Darnaby, Davidson, DeHaven, Denny, Fisk, Grundy, Hayeraft, Irvan, Jenkins, Marshall, McBrayer, Pennebaker, Prall, Rhea, Simpson, Taylor, and Whitaker—23.

In the House, Mr. Hodge, after a few brief and pointed remarks in addition to what he had already said in opposition to the preamble of the majority resolutions, presented the following as a substitute:

WHEREAS, The following amendment to the Constitution of the United States has been proposed by Congress to the Legislatures of the several States, viz:

"No amendment shall be made to the Constitution which will authorize or give Congress power to abolish or interfere within any State with the domestic institutions thereof, including that of persons held to labor or service by the laws of said State."

And whereas, said proposed amendment is not and ought not to be received by Kentucky as a settlement of existing difficulties, yet, as Congress possesses no such power under the present Constitution, and the bill of rights of the Constitution of Kentucky declares that "the right of property is before and higher than any constitutional sanction, and the right of the owner of a slave to such slave and its increase is the same, and is as inviolable as the right of the owner of any property whatever," we regard said proposed amendment as a declaration of rights we already claim to possess: Therefore, &c. [The resolutions were published in our Saturday's issue.]

The subject was extensively discussed on both sides, but before a vote could be had, was dispensed by a special order.

Mr. Harrison made a persistent effort to get a vote on his resolutions offered before the recess, requesting the President to withdraw the Federal troops from the seceded States; but there were too many gentlemen desirous of giving their rhetoric an airing, and the time, until the hour of adjournment, was consumed in speech-making.

QUILP.

THEATER—SECOND NIGHT OF THE GRAND NAUTICAL SPECTACLE OF THE PILOT—THE BRILLIANT AND SUCCESSFUL COMEDY OF "TAKE THAT GIRL AWAY."—The attendance at the theater during the past week was rather light, owing to a variety of causes. Among them may be stated the strong opposition from the German Troupe and the blind boy Tom, and not the least in importance the fact that it was the last week of Lent, a period most religiously observed by all Episcopalians and Roman Catholics, among whom are to be found some of the best patrons of the theater. Lent having passed, and the Germans migrated, we expect now to see the theater wear its accustomed cheerful aspect, with its usual assemblage of lovers of the drama. During the present week two or three benefits of the stock company are expected to come off. Among them may be mentioned those of Mr. Krone and Mr. Lytton. The former is acknowledged by every one to be one of the most careful and correct actors on the stage. Always respectable in everything he undertakes, he not unfrequently renders a part with extraordinary excellence. Off the stage as well as on, he is known as a quiet, modest, and unassuming gentleman. We hope that his first benefit here, which takes place to-morrow night, will be in every way a good one.

To-night we have the grand nautical drama of the Pilot and the very taking comedy, performed for the first time here at Mr. Dickson's benefit, called "Take that Girl Away." A capital bill, which should draw a crowded house.

The Oil Region of Kentucky.

From some gentlemen from the Sandy Valley whom we met in the city yesterday, we learn that the oil excitement in that region is increasing, as the daily developments leave no doubt that oil in apparently inexhaustible quantities may be obtained almost anywhere in a large section of the country bordering on Virginia.—Already large fortunes have been made, and others are in a fair way to attain immense wealth. One well in Johnson county has just been opened, from which thirty barrels of good oil are daily obtained.

In these times of commercial trouble and pecuniary distress, we are glad to know that a portion of our fellow-citizens are reaping a rich harvest; and we sincerely trust that not to citizens of other States alone will the profits go. We know of no better chance for the speculator.

☞ Although March came in gentle as a sucking dove, it did not go out like the roaring lion. Yesterday was one of the pleasantest of the season.

☞ Mr. Lytton takes a benefit on Thursday night at the theater, when the Jackson Guards, by his invitation, will attend. Here's to you, "Mike Finnegan!"

☞ A sale of wheat was made at Terre Haute (Ind.) the other day, which amounted to $22,000. It was shipped South.

☞ J. Wood Wilson, Esq., was admitted to practice in the City Court on Saturday.

The Morrill Tariff.

To-day the new tariff, passed at the last session of Congress, by the Black Republican majority in that body, goes into operation.

By it, the rates of duty are increased from fifty to two hundred and fifty per cent.

It was intended to benefit to an enormous extent the Northern manufacturers at the expense of the great body of the Southern and Western consumers. But in their greed, they have overdone the thing; and ruin upon themselves and the Government will follow their triumph. This is now admitted by the ablest and the most candid of the friends of the Administration.

In attempting to aggrandize their manufactures beyond any benefits that would naturally follow from a tariff for constitutional purposes, they have driven commerce from their flourishing centers of trade, cut off the supplies of the Government, and made the success of the secession movement certain beyond peradventure.

Under the tariffs now in operation, the importation of goods will, to an extent scarcely conceivable, be diverted to the Southern cities; and to that extent will the Government at Washington be deprived of the means to conduct its operations at a time when from other causes its credit is impaired and its expenses increased.

The embarrassments arising from this state of affairs are felt keenly by those in power, whose madness and folly led them into difficulties from which they cannot escape.

Only yesterday, we read in a leading editorial in one of the ablest organs of the new Administration, whose editor has been in the Congress, and now holds an honorable, lucrative, and responsible position, a frank and explicit confession that the representatives and men in power from the North had manifested an incredible lack of statesmanship in all they had recently done, while the leaders of the seceded States had shown themselves men of ability, enlarged and comprehensive views, foresight, judgment, and prudence; and the legislation of the two Governments on the subject of the tariff was cited as evidence that this is the case.

By another leading Black Republican paper, the New York Times, it is candidly stated that the only safety of the Federal Government can be found in a repeal of the MORRILL tariff, the establishment of free trade for the present at least, and a resort as a necessary consequence to direct taxation.

To this proposition we invite the special attention of those among us who attempted to frighten the people of Kentucky into an abandonment of their rights and a surrender to the usurpations of the Black Republicans, by an unfounded and unjust clamor about "free trade and direct taxation" in the Southern Confederacy.

A tariff for revenue, not for direct protection to the manufacturer at the expense of the consumer, has been adopted in the Southern Confederacy: it is generally proposed, in responsible quarters, to repeal all duties on imports in the North, and to directly tax the people for the support of the Government!

The MORRILL tariff goes into effect today. Its consequences will be felt at once. We do not believe that the Government will derive an income of twenty-four millions a year under it. If not, with expenses not less than $100,000,000, and a credit destroyed or greatly impaired, the prospects are far from flattering.

The probability is, that in six months from the inauguration of Black Republicanism, the Government will be brought to a dead halt. The Southern Confederacy certainly looks as though it were the more stable and substantial Government of the two.

☞ A correspondent, writing from Morgan county, suggests the name of Col. JOHN WILLIAMS, of Clark county, as the Southern Rights candidate for the Border Slave Conference from the Ninth Congressional District.

Col. WILLIAMS is an able, a gallant, and a popular, and we believe a truly loyal, Southern Rights man; and should our friends in that district agree upon him, as we learn they are likely to do, as their standard-bearer, in the first straight and open fight with the Submissionists, we are sure he will prove equal to the trust and worthy of their confidence.

☞ Three men, named Wyatt, Taylor and Golden, were arrested for setting fire to Mr. Diffendaffer's barn in Jeffersonville, on Thursday, but they were discharged for lack of evidence to hold them for trial.

THE MILLER MURDER AT JACKSON.—A few days since we published an extract from the Nashville Banner, in regard to the probable discovery of the perpetrator of the Miller murder and bank robbery at Jackson, Tenn., pointing to Mr. John Miller, a well-known merchant of Jackson, and relative of the deceased, as the suspicioned person. In the Memphis Argus, of the 26th, we find a letter from Col. J. H. McMahon, in which the statement of the Banner is pronounced entirely erroneous. The Argus, referring to the letter of Col. McM., says:

We know on reliable authority that Mr. John Miller is in Jackson, pursuing the even tenor of an honest and useful life, and have sufficient authority for stating that his circumstances or "affairs" were never in a state of embarrassment. The originators of this scandal might now be easily traced through the Nashville Banner. It has flown about too long in private circles.

DEATH FROM TOOTHACHE.—Mr. Levi Cain, a wealthy gentleman residing near Harrington, Kent county, Delaware, died on the 17th instant, from a disease produced by toothache. The Wilmington Republican says:

On the 5th of the month he complained of toothache, but considered it nothing more than an ordinary attack of that unpleasant affliction. It grew more serious, however, and progressed from bad to worse until he was forced to take to his bed, and after the lapse of several days, erysipelas made its appearance about his face and throat, superinduced by the pain and irritation of his teeth. The disease spread over his body, and in spite of medical skill, and of everything that could be done for him, terminated the patient's existence on the day above named, in twelve days from the time he was first affected.

LETTER FROM GEO. PEABODY ESQ.—The Boston Courier publishes a letter from George Peabody, Esq., the American banker in London, in reference to our national crisis, in which he says:

The anticipation of a bloody conflict between the North and the South has already destroyed confidence in the United States Government stocks and many of the States securities, and millions have, within a few months, been sent home for a market in consequence. It is only by concession on the part of the Northern States, and a compromise which would secure the best feelings of the Border States towards the North and West, that we can reinstate our credit abroad.

THE WHEAT CROP.—A letter from Peacher's Mills Postoffice, Montgomery county, Tennessee, gives the following information respecting the wheat crop:

The growing wheat crop in this county and in the adjoining counties of Christian and Todd, in Kentucky, looks remarkably well. The recent cold weather, in exposed situations, has turned it rather yellow, but by retarding its rapid growth, it is generally considered as rather beneficial than otherwise, lessening the danger of injury by the late frosts. Some of the peach blossoms have been killed by the frost, but from partial examination I should not consider that over one-fourth are destroyed as yet, leaving abundance for a good crop.

Fort Pickens Strengthened—Orders to Land Four Hundred Troops.

The New York Tribune learns that orders were sent last week to the naval commanders at Warrington, near Pensacola, to land the 400 troops on board the Brooklyn, and reinforce Fort Pickens. No intelligence, however, of the execution of this order has yet reached the Government. The Washington correspondent of the same paper, in giving this news, adds:

It is not disguised that some apprehension is entertained here of a possible attack by the revolutionary army now encamped before Fort Pickens, under command of General Bragg, though wiser counsels are hoped.

The Government does not regard this movement as a reinforcement, and if treated as such by the secession leaders, they must take the consequences. No hostile demonstration is designed, and no attempt will be made to retake the other forts and navy-yard.

In transferring these troops from a sloop-of-war, which has been stationed off Pensacola for two months, the Secretary of War intended to protect Fort Pickens against surprise or surrender, and if their landing is resisted, reinforcements will be immediately thrown there, be the consequences what they may.

It is not true that the Government vessels at Pensacola are short of supplies, and they need not be, with Key West so near at hand. The transport containing all the necessary provisions for the home squadron was detained at New York, but must have reached Pensacola by this time.

Further About the Yelverton Scandal—Defense of Teresa Longworth's Conduct.

A Dublin correspondent writes to a London journal:

I am informed that Major Yelverton's name will be struck out of the list of members of the Junior United Service Club. The Irish papers have found a telling rejoinder to the Major's requirements of "gentle blood" as one constituent of "a lady," in the history of the Avonmore family—whose honors were purchased at no very remote period of the services of the well-known Barry Yelverton, whose father was a butcher, and who is said to be married to his cook, as is the wont of dispensed lovers. The Major's first victim is the cousin of Mr. Longworth, our Consul-General at Belgrade, a gentleman much respected by all who knew him, and who has written on Circassia where he both traveled and served. He is the "Alcide" referred to in some of the lady's letters read at the trial by Sergeant Armstrong, who commented on this unknown "Alcide" as if he had been an unavowed lover.

It was to Mr. Longworth that the letter was addressed that Major Yelverton was asked by Miss Longworth to post from Malta—the request which led to a renewal of their steamboat acquaintanceship. The apparent contradiction as to her relationship to her correspondent—who was described on one occasion as her brother, on another as her cousin—is explained by the fact that he was brought up with his cousins on a footing of brotherhood and sisterhood so close and complete that most even of their intimate friends imagined them actual brother and sister.

There is a fact, which did not come out on the trial, but which quite disproves the theory of the defense, that Miss Longworth went to Galata to "hunt up" Major Yelverton. The real inducement was respect for the memory of a gallant French officer, to whom she had formed a attachment in the interval between her first introduction to Major Yelverton, in 1852, and her going to Galata in 1856.

This officer died, or was killed, in the Crimean war, and it was sympathy for the service he belonged to, and devotion to his memory, which led her to join the French Sisters of Charity as a nurse, at the hospital at Galata—not any project for meeting Major Yelverton. Independently of this, however, Miss Longworth, from her education, was more a foreigner than an Irishwoman. She was educated in French and Italian convents, and this should be taken into account in judging her from her letters and her conduct.

THE DUEL AT FORT MCRAE.—We have received what we believe to be a correct version of the late difficulty and duel at Fort McRae, Florida, between St. Clair Morgan, the young South Carolinian, and Mr. Storrs, the young Alabamian, late a midshipman U. S. N. It seems that on the night of the duel, the young men, with a number of comrades, were off in a boat on a reconnoitering party near Fort Pickens. Morgan, full of reckless daring, proposed that they should land just under the walls of Pickens to make what discoveries they could, but Storrs objected, saying that it would
