They talk about a woman's sphere. As though it had a limit. There's not a place in earth or heaven. There's not a task to mankind given. There's not a blessing or a woe. There's not a whisper, yes or no. There's not a life, a death, a birth. That has a feather's weight of worth. Without a woman in it!

Dear brother, maybe they don't class you as a simon pure Democrat as we notice The Ashland News has the full proceedings.

PUBLISHER OF DONOHUE'S.

What the Great American Catholic Monthly Owes to Paine's Celery Compound.

The name of Donohue's Magazine, founded by Patrick Donohue of Boston, in 1879, is known and respected throughout the English-speaking world.

Within the past year it has achieved almost marvelous success, and stands today peerless in its field, doing splendid work for greater religious tolerance and better economic conditions. This success has been won under the direction of its new publisher, Hon. Daniel P. Toomey, who, in addition, is at the head of one of Boston's book publishing companies and is a representative from that city in the Legislature from Massachusetts.

Mr. Toomey writes as follows in a candid and interesting letter:

"I believe in Paine's Celery Compound. If I tell you why, you may, perhaps, wish to publish my words. But even that does not deter me from writing you the truth. I have no sympathy with the man who helps tear down the bridge that carried him over." Neither do I sympathize with the man who hides facts just because their publication may promote the success of others. Paine's Celery Compound helped me. That's the fact of the case.

"Finding myself run down and getting myself into a state of nervousness, recently, I took the advice of a medical friend, and bought Paine's Celery Compound. Its use gave me strength, energy, and buoyancy. Business cares were made lighter than before.

"I believe in the efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound!"

Mr. Toomey's experience is like that of thousands of others.

Brain workers, those who suffer from debility, exhaustion, mental depression, sleeplessness, find Paine's Celery Compound a certain rejuvenator of the vital portions. Hard study among students is a direct cause of debility. Energetic action cannot be kept up in the brain and stomach at the same time. If the mind be intently occupied with profound thought the nervous power will be concentrated in the brain, and the stomach being deprived of it, indigestion and disease ensue. Hence the weak digestion and sallow complexion of literary men and their constant complaint of ill health.

It is also true that a hopeful man or woman can do more work and get well faster than one in despair. From the first taking of Paine's Celery Compound a feeling of confidence in recovery comes over the invalid. New blood and fresh nervous energy give a hopeful outlook. Paine's Celery Compound hastens convalescence wonderfully.

In the spring, if ever, there is need of food for the nerves and brain. Paine's Celery Compound makes the weak strong; makes people well. Try it.

Welcomed by Ex-Confederates.
About two hundred veterans of the late war from Evansville, Ind., en route to the grounds of the battle of Shiloh, were met at Paducah by the Mayor and Council, the A. P. Thompson Camp of Confederate veterans, the G. A. R. Post and a large delegation of citizens. They were escorted to the Palmer House by a brass band, and an address of welcome delivered by the Hon. E. W. Bagby, which was responded to by General McClernand and General Lew Wallace. In his speech, General Wallace referred feelingly to his campgrounds in and around Paducah. After the speech-making they were driven over the city in carriages under the charge of the Mayor and a committee. General Wallace visited his old campground in that city, which lies near the Paducah, Tennessee and Alabama Depot, and was delighted at the idea of being able to find it without assistance.
