

Since my last report, I have received a letter from Doctor Crossfield, accepting your offer of the Athletic field for the coming Thanksgiving game. He requested that I tender to the Executive Committee his sincere thanks for this courtesy. I told Doctor Crossfield that our Athletic Committee would hold themselves in readiness to do anything in their power to make their game a success.

Respectfully,

Henry S. Barker,

President.

Acting upon suggestion of President Barker, Mr. Brown moved that the cafeteria be leased to John P. Kicketts and Floyd Potts until the first of the year at a nominal rental. Seconded by Mr. Johnston, the motion was carried by the following vote. Messrs. Brown, Nichols, and Johnston voting aye, Mr. Stoll voting no. Judge Barker was then instructed to draw up a contract with Messrs. Kicketts and Potts in which it was to be specifically set out that the University assumed no liability for any debts contracted by the tenants and that the President give such notice as he deemed fit to such merchants and dealers as these tenants may have occasion to do business with.

With reference to the President's report on the action of the Discipline Committee which investigated charges against students for outrages on the night of October 31, Mr. Brown and Mr. Stoll questioned the advisability of the Discipline Committee's findings in cases of hair-cutting.

President Barker said they had difficulty in ascertaining who did the hair-cutting; in fact could not ascertain it and stated that in some instances boys whose hair had been cut, declared they did not know who cut it and in other instances said they had cut their own hair. Mr. Stoll contended that the idea of a boy cutting his own hair was absolutely ridiculous and in his own judgment should be punished as such statement was, in its very nature a falsehood. In this connection, Mr. Stoll counseled stricter discipline in the University and incidentally remarked that a certain Commonwealth's attorney of his acquaintance had told him he would not send his boy to the University of Kentucky because of its lack of discipline.

Mr. Brown referred to a similar case from Scott County.

The report of Dean W. E. Howe of the College of Civil Engineering was read, accepted and ordered spread upon the minutes as follows:

November 15, 1916

President Henry S. Barker,
University of Ky.

Dear Sir:
