HOOF AND HORN CLUB ORGANIED BY AG. MEN

The Hoof and Horn Club is a new organization among the agricultural students of the University. Such other universities as Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Wisconsin and Michigan have "Hoof and Horn" and it is a live wire in those institutions. It is expected that this club will be responsible for a great deal of good resulting for both the Department of Animal Husbandry and the University for the motto is "More and Better Livestock." Officers are, president, Garnett McKinney, Winchester; vice-president, Harry Farmer, Stanford; secretary-treasurer, R. H. Ford, Winchester.

The club will present to the students of the University and the public its initial program Saturday afternoon when a livestock show will be given in the Judging Pavilion, located on the Experiment Station Farm, for the Berea students who will be visiting the University then.

A number of animals of every kind of livestock owned by the University will be used in the show. The animals will be brought in, judged, and the reasons given for placing them within twenty minutes' times. The judging will be done by the members of the club.

L. V. Burge, member of the Senior Class, Chemistry, has been heard from in Akron, where he is employed by the Goodyear Company. That he is making progress is evinced by the fact that he expects to "get a raise" next month.
