

Flashing her ever-present smile, Janie Olmstead receives her roses as Lambda Chi Pushcart Derby queen.

Kappa Sigma Captures Pushcart Derby

Marked by cheers, tears, and pulled leg muscles, the Lambda Chi Alpha Pushcart Derby was an excitement-filled afternoon as the carts raced around the Administration Drive to the finish line. Janie Olmstead of Chi Omega was crowned Queen by last year's Queen, Candy Johnson of Kappa Alpha Theta. The declared winner of the Ugly Man Contest was Gibbs Reese of Phi Delta Theta. Pi Beta Phi carted home the winning trophy in the sorority division, while Kappa Sigma invited the crowd over to their house to help celebrate their victory in the fraternity division.

LAMBDA CHI PUSHCART DERBY

Preparation and planning had stopped, the day of the Lambda Chi Pushcart Derby had arrived. The various events got underway announcing Gibbs Reece winner of the Ugly

Providing a relaxed note to the Derby, members of Lambda Chi entertain students with a few folk melodies.

Whether riding or pushing, sunglasses are The Thing for the Lambda Chi Pushcart Derby.

