"THE LAUGHING CURE" TO BE PRESENTED BY THE LITTLE THEATRE

Amusing Play Will Be Offered Next Tuesday Evening

CURTAIN RISES AT 8:15

Only One Performance Will Be Given

"Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone." See "The Laughing Cure" in the Little Theatre Tuesday evening and you will laugh until your sides literally burst. Miss it with the knowledge that you are missing something and you will run into a corner and weep.

"The Laughing Cure" presents a psychological illustration of banishing ill health. With a plot of simple construction, yet as complete as the four act drama with a complex setting, this playlet comes with a reputation of swaying its audiences into a continuous round of laughs and giggles.

Played by the best talent in the University under the personal direction of Professor W. H. Mikesell this playlet will attempt to cure some of the grievances of a college audience.

Picture a woman in a weak and enemic condition under the personal care of a doctor. She has derived no benefit. There enters from the psychological school a doctor with a disposition as happy as that of a child with an all-day sucker in its mouth. Everything changes. Mirth creeps into every

DEAN STIMSON SPEAKS

Miss Dorothy Stimson, Dean of Women of Transylvania College, gave an interesting talk at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. at Patterson Hall last Sunday evening. Her subject was "The Historic Jesus." She quoted from several books and brought forth actual proof that a man named Jesus really lived on this earth at one time.

A solo by Miriam Senger added to the enjoyment of this delightful program. Esther Harris was the leader for the evening.

MISS CORNELL'S SISTER GIVEN DESERVED HONOR

Ohio State Young Woman Re-elected President of Mortar Board

Lilly Cromwell has just returned from the biennial convention of Mortar Board which was held at Ohio State Columbus, Ohio, April 22 to 24. This is a senior women's organization which for the highest in scholarship, leadership and service. Phi Beta Kappa is wrongly supposed to have the same standards, but in fact only stands for scholarship. Mortar Board has chapters in the largest universities and wherever established is outstanding among organizations on the campus.

The program was: Friday morning Forum was held at the home of the president of the local chapter at which campus problems were discussed. This was followed by a delightful buffet luncheon. Saturday luncheon was held at the Lazarus Tea Room and was followed by a business meeting. A 4 o'clock tea given by the alumnae of the Ohio State chapter in Oxley Hall, one of the girl's dormitories. At 8 o'clock a banquet was held in the Maramor Tea Room and was followed by a business meeting. Sunday a model initiation was held at 7 o'clock in the morning. The convention was closed with a breakfast at 8 o'clock.

Miss Cornell's Sister Honored
The most important business of the convention was the election of officers until the next convention which will be held at Swarthmore. Election of officers was held only three months ago because some resigned and their places had to be filled, so many were reelected. Miss Anne Cornell of Ohio State was reelected president. She is a sister to Miss Maybelle Cornell, head of the Home Economics Department at the University of Kentucky. Miss Grace Wilharm of Minnesota was reelected secretary. Miss Claire Strong, Swarthmore was made treasurer and Miss Marcella Moon, Ann Arbor, was elected historian.

Two new chapters were installed, one at University of Pennsylvania and the other at the University of Indiana. Four other petitions were considered. Mortar Board has chapters at Cornell, Swarthmore, Ohio State, Ann Arbor, Columbia College, Mo., University of Minnesota, University of Illinois, University of Nebraska, Knox College, Wis., de Pauw University, and University of Kentucky. The chapter was established here in '20, absorbing Staff and Crown, the local organization of the same standing.

GET VICTORY MEDAL

All University men who took part in the recent World War are entitled to a Victory Medal and may obtain one by applying to Lieutenant Torrence. Application should be made as soon as possible as only a limited number of these medals are on hand.

Fred Peters, '20, was a visitor on the campus last Wednesday. Fred is superintendent of the Cloverport schools at this time.

BOBBED HAIR

Hair-bobbing, that malady which was quite prevalent a year or so ago, has broken out again at Patt Hall. Those who contracted the fever during the first epidemic are rather immune but those who escaped the first time are now very susceptible. It cannot be learned who brought the germ back to the campus.

The after effects of an attack of hairbobbing are somewhat like those of typhoid fever, sometimes it helps one and sometimes it doesn't. Sweet calm sedate little girls have been changed overnight into the regular "kock 'em cold" type. And some of the fair ones surely do wear a wicked frizz. But there is always the sad side—the frizzless locks. Think of bobbing your hair and then for it not to frizz. One dear lassie, after shearing her beautiful tresses, cried all night, fearing what Mamma would say when she saw her little girl. Let us hope the epidemic is over.

TWO ALUMNI CLUBS LAUNCHED IN WEEK

K. E. A. Dinner Indicates Awakening of Interest In Alma Mater

Two alumni clubs launched in the last week and the big alumni dinner in Louisville at the K. E. A. indicate the reawakening of interest in the alma mater.

The dinner at Louisville was the largest since the custom was inaugurated. One hundred alumni who are teaching in the State registered at University headquarters at the Seelbach. President Frank L. McVey and former president Henry S. Barker were principal speakers at the dinner. Leo J. Sandmann, president of the Louisville Alumni Club, presided.

Twentytwo alumni attended the Pittsburgh meeting at the Hotel Chatham. H. S. Fry, '04, former president of the club, was selected temporary chairman until new officers are elected at a meeting in May.

"Everyone present had something to say," writes W. E. Freeman, '04, who was one of the leaders in the movement to reorganize. "Everyone expressed a feeling of satisfaction with the progress the University is making and all expressed a desire to do their part for the alma mater."

Professor Freeman, E. C. Evans, '02, H. Lee Moore, '11, and M. B. Porsch, '04, were appointed a committee to arrange for the next meeting. The Alumni Secretary was invited to be present then and bring "the latest news from the firing line."

Alumni at Lebanon, Ky., are planning a Kentucky Day at the local high school, May 12, which will be concluded with a dinner at which the Senior class and the high school faculty will be guests of the club. A member of the University faculty will be the principal speaker at the high school celebration and at the dinner in the evening.

James Castleman Phillips ex '70, the oldest alumnus now living in Kentucky is one of the most enthusiastic members of the Lebanon club. A feature of their last meeting was his account of things as they were when Woodland was the campus and the Munsons, first graduates of the University, were studying under Professors Peter, Patterson and Pickett. Mr. Phillips said he would like to attend the Alumni Reunion, June 14, and is making his plans with that in view.

Dean Boyd is attending the convention of the deans of the colleges of arts and sciences held in Lincoln, Nebraska, April 25 to May 2.

MEET POSTPONED

The track meet with the University of Cincinnati which was to be held last Wednesday afternoon, wasn't.

Owing to the erratic weather, rain was expected and the night before the proposed event Coach Buchheit phoned the team not to come.

The contest will in all probability be held next Monday on Stoll Field if both parties agree, and the weather is willing. With a good track several records are looked forward to.

EXHIBITS ANNOUNCED BY ART DEPARTMENT

Art Museum Open To Faculty and Students at All Times

A large and important painting, "The Blue of the Gulf Stream," by Waugh, which will be of particular interest to the student body and citizens of Lexington, arrived this week and is now on view in the Art Museum, third floor, White Hall. This particular painting which the artist has loaned the Art Department through the courtesy of William Sawitsky of the Milch Gallery, is one of the canvasses of first importance in the permanent collection of the Pennsylvania Academy. It may be possible for the Department to secure this painting permanently for the Art Museum here.

There is one phase of American painting in which America is supreme; in many phases of painting we are compelled for the present to take second place to Europe, but the great critics of the world are practically unanimous in giving America highest place in marine painting. Such artists as the late Winslow Homer, Waugh, Dougherty and Reuterschal have no foreign peers.

Mr. Sax states that he will soon be able to announce exhibitions of Cincinnati artists which will be shown early in May.

May 2 a most interesting and unique exhibition of caricatures by the gifted William King, of the Louisville Herald, will be shown here. Mr. King's caricatures, while excurtatingly funny, are by no means of the cheap comic supplement variety. They are splendid examples of an important and little understood art. He does not make his caricatures merely ridiculous but he accentuates their human characteristics much in the manner of Mr. Barrie.

Mr. Sax wishes that it be emphatically understood that at all times the Art Museum is open to the faculty and student body, and hopes that they may not be deterred by the fact that there is a class in session. He also desires that they come in and watch the work of the advanced classes in art, as it may aid to a better appreciation for students to see painting in the process of production.

MRS. P. P. BOYD ENTERTAINS FOR ALPHA XI SORORITY

Mrs. P. P. Boyd entertained at her home in Waller avenue, Rhodes Addition, Tuesday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock, a tea in honor of Anna Jean Smith and Mary Harkleroad, brides-elect and the members of Xi chapter of Alpha Xi Delta.

During the afternoon Virginia Boyd and Elizabeth Ellis delighted those present with piano selections. A delicious salad course was served. Helen McGurk, Virginia Boyd and Carolyn Smith assisted Mrs. Boyd in entertaining. The house was beautifully decorated with spring flowers and potted plants.

GEORGIA BULL DOGS HERE FOR TWO GAMES WITH THE WILDCATS

Georgians Have Not Been Defeated; Have Won 16 Games

TODAY'S GAME AT 3:30

Cooper Will Pitch This Afternoon

Georgia's Bull Dogs are here and will meet the Wildcats this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock on Stoll Field, and tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock. Georgia has the best bunch of ball tossers that has been around these parts this year and Kentucky will have to play an improved brand of baseball to win. But the Wildcats have come back, and it looks like they are liable to do that thing this afternoon.

Georgia has not forgotten a little basketball game played in Atlanta last winter and those Bull Dogs will try harder to beat the Wildcats than anybody they have met this season. Considering that Georgia has not lost a game that doesn't sound well for the home team, but don't forget the way Cooper slung that pill in the last two innings of Friday's game and the way the rest of the team hit the ball.

Cooper is slated to get the call this afternoon and McKinney will do the heaving tomorrow. Both of these boys had lots of stuff Friday and can be expected to give Kentucky a victory if pitching will win the game. The team has begun to hit and if the fielding tightens up a bit, well, look out Georgia.

250 GIRL GYMNASTS TO GIVE EXHIBITION

Field Day To Be Held on Stoll Field, Thursday, May 12

Do you want to see the biggest thing ever put on in Lexington in a gymnastic way? If so, come to Stoll Field, Thursday afternoon, May 12, and see Field Day exercises put on by two hundred and fifty girls in the Physical Education Department, directed by Miss Sarah Blanding. There will be a Greek temple erected for the dances, marches, drills and apparatus work. The purpose of the gymnastic Field Day exhibit is to get the work before the people. Many people are coming from out of town. No admission will be charged.

The program follows:
Part I.
(a) March; (b) Gymnastic tactics; (c) English Country Dance; (d) Indian Club Drill; (e) Apparatus.
Part II.
Classic Dancing; (a) Fireflies; (b) Dawn Dance; (c) Moment Musical; (d) Blue Danube Waltz.
