

procured, and of this well and all other wells which they may dig or bore, they are to pay said Gray at the rate of thirty barrels of oil in every hundred, and the said Tacony Company are to have the benefit of said leases, that is, one half of the lease of said Skeggs, and the whole of the lease of the said Neri Sweatman, except that the said Gray reserves to himself the right to bore one well on the tract of the said Neri Sweatman, at such place, as he may prefer, but not within the bounds of an acre around any well, which may have been bored by the said Tacony Company. The royalty of one tenth is to be paid by said Gray out of his share of thirty in the hundred.

The Skeggs lease contains one hundred and fifty acres of land, and the Sweatman lease contains two hundred acres of land. Witness the signatures of the said parties, the day and year first above written.
